CARD OF THANKS.—We desire to thank the relatives and neighbors for their kind assistance to us during the illness and on the death of our mother.

R. L. STONE and wife.

MCDADE SOLD OUT.—Ed Mc Dade, the showman, and his family disappeared from Georgetown some time ago, and last week his household goods, tents, etc., were sold to satisfy debts of about $600 to his creditors. The sale came to $133.

CARD OF THANKS.—To our friends and neighbors who assisted us with their kind and comforting words on the decease of our dear father and father-in-law, Goodpaster, we return our heartfelt appreciation.

NANNIE GOODPASTER AND CHILDREN.

SPECIAL EDITION.—The M. T. Sterling Advocate issued a special twenty-four-page edition last week containing a list of business men and others of M. T. Sterling, Owingville, and other towns. It cost a deal of money and labor, and is a creditable enterprise.

LICENSED TO WED.—Jas. Nicholas and Laura Norris, of the Salt Lick neighborhood.

Robert Williams, son of Mrs. Cynthia Williams and her late husband, James Williams, of the Salt Lick, and his first husband, Thomas Bailey, of White Oak.

BRENNELL-McCLAIN.—Leander Brennell, youngest son of Squire George Brennell, and Miss Iona McClain, daughter of Samuel McClain and wife of Naylor's Branch, eloped to Ironton, Ohio, Saturday night and were married. They returned to the home of Wm. Brennell Monday afternoon, and went to the home of the bride's parents that night. Their friends wish them much joy.

NOTICE.—Having sold my interest in the grocery business to my partner, R. Clyde Byron, I respectfully request a prompt settlement of your account, that the partnership business may be wound up. Thanking you for all favors in the past, I am,

Respectfully,
S. D. THOMPSON.

I have purchased the interest of my partner, S. D. Thompson, in the grocery business, and after this date will sell for CASH only. Please do not ask for credit. Thanking you for your many favors of the past, I am,

Yours respectfully,
R. CLYDE BYRON.

RESIDENCE BURNED.—Roll Radliff's residence, on the Dick Nolan farm, of Bald Eagle creek, burned shortly after breakfast time Saturday morning. He had, it is reported, $1,500 insurance on house and $500 on furniture, which was far from covering the loss.

A neighbor saw the smoke and telephoned to Mr. Radliff to know if his house was on fire. Mr. Radliff went to the kitchen to investigate and as he opened the door the smoke and flames burst out. The kitchen roof being nearly ready to fall in, nothing of the household goods was saved.

He visited to her husband's people in West Virginia.

TRIBUTE TO JOHN A. RAMSEY.—Savannah, Ga., July 16, 1910.—DEAR OUTLOOK: A brief notice in The Masonic Home Journal, a paper which follows me because I retain membership in a Kentucky lodge, brings the sad tidings of the death of my old friend John A. Ramsey.

Although it has been nearly sixteen years only I resided in Owingville the place is still very dear to me, and I would ask that my grief be added to its grief in the death of a man who was beloved by all who knew him. I have always duly appreciated the friendship which was extended to me by Mr. Ramsey, and his companionship during the time I lived in Owingville has afforded me many delightful memories of him and the town. His passing with others who have gone since I came South—suggests the thought that eternity can have little gloom if there we meet and know the dear ones who have given us sweet memories to brighten our ways.

John A. Ramsey was a good man, and the marble which marks the grave in the cemetery beautifully by his efforts should be so inscribed.

Yours truly,
LUKE P. PETTUS.

DRANK CARBOLIC ACID.—Purd May's son Austin, of July neighborhood, killed himself with carbolic acid last week. He was about 21 years of age. His parents would not live here, Mrs. May being Miss Inez Stephens, step-daughter of Uncle Mat McDonald.

We will close out all wash suits and dresses at less than cost price; also milk dresses and wash clothes.

GOODPASTER & CO.

WORTH GOODPASTER'S DEATH.

William Worth Goodpaster died at the Eastern Kentucky Asylum, Lexington, Sunday, July 17.

His health broke down about two and a half years ago, and he had been in the asylum since last January a year ago. Owing to failure to reach his family by telephone it was not notified until Monday. The body was brought to his home, at Kendall's Spring, Monday night. The funeral was held at the home at two o'clock p. m. Tuesday, July 19, services being conducted by Elder G. W. Mills. The interment was made on the home farm.

Deceased was 69 years of age. He was the second oldest child of Perry Goodpaster and wife, both deceased, and born and reared a few miles west of this town. He was reared a farmer and followed that occupation. He was an influential, thrifty man and a good citizen, having many friends who esteemed him for his generous, social qualities.

He married Miss Nannie Jones, daughter of James M. and Martha J. Jones, both deceased. She and the following children survive: Mary, wife of Eli Craycraft, of Kendall's Spring; Bertie, wife of Albert Hodge of Roslyn, Powell county; Minnie, wife of R. Albert Shroat, of Pleasant Valley; Nora, of Mt. Sterling; Martha, at home; James, of Force Mill; Oscar, of Oak Grove, Mo.; Laura Ella, wife of Wm. Carpenter, of Kendall's Spring; and Carl, at home.

Of deceased's father's family the brothers and sisters are: Betsey, wife of G. Wash McKinlin, of White Oak; Mary, deceased; Charles, deceased; Belle, who married Charles Chapman and died in the West; Ella, widow of Harrison Hamilton, of near Stoops; Nannie, wife of Lee Young, of Montgomery county; Tibbs, of near Rogersville, Mo.

The bereaved family have the sympathy of a host of friends in their sorrow.

THE CONGRESSIONAL RACE.

There was more interest taken in the race for the Democratic Congressional nomination on the 17th, than in any other election in a long time. It was supposed that the contest between W. C. Fields, of Carter county, and Edgar Hager, of Abland for North county's vote would be pretty close. C. W. Mathers, of Carter, and Mordca Williams, of Normal, each had a few supporters.

On Saturday afternoon when the mass convention was called the crowd promptly filled the Court-house and scores had to remain outside. However, it did not require a count to show that Fields had an overwhelming majority, estimated all the way from 10 to 100. Hence the delegates named were Fields men and were instructed to vote for him to 10 to 1.

Hager carried Boyd and Harrison, a total of 25 votes.

Mathers got only Nicholas Co. Williams got second instruction in Mason.

Bon, Robertson, Lewis and Rowan didn't instruct.

KILLED AN ARMADILLO.—

Emerson Jones, son of Tug Jones, of Kendall's Spring, was aroused at 9:30 o'clock Thursday night by his dog barking. He went out to see what was causing the noise and found his dog occupied with an animal rolled up in a shell-covered ball, which the dog's head was stuck in.

On Jones joined in the assault, and the animal leaped up some feet towards Jones' face, and of the ground running. Jones let drive at it with a rock and made a hit, landing it so as to check its speed. After a battle and a chase lasting an hour and a half the strange animal was put out of the fight.

Jones skinned it and brought the skin to town Friday morning. It proved to be a nine-banded armadillo. Jones said the animal would have weighed about fifteen pounds. It has a nick in the right ear and was probably the one recently sent from Texas to somebody at Mt. Sterling.

It would be nearly like taking the census of the town to mention those attending the Mt. Sterling fair last week.

MRS. J. D. STONE'S DEATH.

Mrs. Hiram Ann Stone, wife of John D. Stone, deceased, died July 20 about 11 o'clock, of Bright's disease at the home of her son Robert L. Stone, on upper Prickly Ash. Her husband, John D. Stone, died the 9th of April near Carlisle. Mrs. Stone and little granddaughter Willie Boyd Stone came to make their home with her son Robert. She lived only three months, and suffered a great deal. All was done for her by physicians, relatives and friends could do, but to no avail. She was a devoted wife and mother, and had been a member of the Christian church for many years. She was 64 years old, and leaves four sons: R. L.; William and Lindsay, of near Carlisle, and Edwin, of Ridge Farm, Ill. They were all with her in her last hours. Her four daughters preceded her to the grave several years. The remains were buried in the Carlisle cemetery.

A FRIEND.

WEATHER, CROPS, ETC.—The rain held up all last week and gave the farmers a chance to reap their tobacco and corn, but for all that, both crops are in a bad way and will not mature. The opinion is pretty general that tobacco will hardly make a half crop, and corn will be an inferior one.

The weather was pleasant the first half of the week, but was fearfully hot and oppressive from Thursday on.

A shower laid the dust Sunday afternoon, and there was a long succession of 2-second showers Monday night.

What threshing is going on, and the yield is better than really expected.

A baby daughter arrived at the home of Mr. Wyatt and wife (see Ellen Botta), of Carlisle, Saturday.—their first-born.

SUGGESTIONS TO TEACHER.

PATRONS AND TRUSTEES.—As the time is now at hand when our common schools will begin, and many have already begun, I wish to make some suggestions that might be beneficial to you, and should all be interested in the welfare of our common schools; we should use our every effort to make them the best we can, and we should try to remove anything that retards their progress. Even though the teacher is not of the best, or is not our choice, we could get much better results if we did everything we could to help them encourage them, and show them that we expected something of them, than if we fought them and tried to tear them down all they try to do. It is a common expression among patrons "That teacher is no good. I don't like him, just keep my children at home."

For the sake of your own boys and girls do not say that. Just think who is injured by this method of revenge; the teacher is not seriously injured by that; they draw on each other to the same; but, on the other hand, your child only had fourteen years in which to obtain its education, and the loss of one year may so discourage it that it will not take the proper interest thereafter, and lose its chance of education. Now, some parents say "Well, I don't expect to give my children much of an education; just so they can read and write; that's all I had." If you are not going to give them an education what, in the name of God, do you expect to give them?

Again, some parents say that children never pay for their raising. Did it never occur to you that you owe your children the very best that you can do for them, and that you encourage it, enable them to live a useful and happy life?

Give them better preparation, and probably they will be a better-paying investment. Then, some parents say "We are poor people and have to raise our children." Did you ever stop to think what it would cost to give a child a common school education? Well, say you start your child to school at six years of age; you send it regularly; furnish it the necessary books and supplies, and the teacher. It makes a grade each year, and in eight years it has completed the common school course; it is then fourteen years old.—just getting to where it can do some work.

If the teacher employs you, you do not meet your approval the remedy lies in your hands. On the sixth day of August a number of our sub-districts will hold elections for the purpose of electing trustees. If you are not enough interested in your schools to go to the election and elect a trustee that is a well-qualified, fair man interested in the welfare of the schools then forever hold your peace.

To the trustees I would say that it is your duty to select a teacher that, in your best judgment, will accomplish the most good; then stand by that teacher when they are in the right, encourage them, talk to your dissatisfied patron, explain to them that the teacher is trying. Keep in touch with all that is going on in your school. If the teacher is in the wrong, it is your duty to go to that teacher and explain to her or him where she or he is wrong and ask her or him to make amends. If the teacher is careless and will not do her or his duty it then becomes your duty to call your board together and see what steps may be taken.

There seems to be a general complaint that teachers do not put in the required time. The trustee should see to this, and if any teacher fails to do his work the trustee should not sign any reports for such teacher.

Now, to the trustees I would say that they should be wide-awake, earnest and conscientious in their work. A teacher is not able to handle a school when he is not able to handle the patrons; by this I mean you, must secure the co-operation of the patrons. You say you cannot secure the co-operation of the patrons, for they are against you. Suppose you call on these patrons and explain to them that you are earnestly working for their children's education. A teacher to make a success should be a good mixer. I don't mean that you should mix up with every wrangle of your patrons, but rather clear of them; but be sociable; let them feel that you are their friend, and if possible make friends of them.

Now, the county pays the tuition in high school for all common school children who are over 14 years of age. You will find in from your school for the January examination? Every teacher who is to have some graduates each year. The patrons of your school help pay the cost of your county high schools, and should receive some of the benefits.

A teacher cannot accomplish his work without a regularly prescribed course of studies. This the State Superintendent furnishes and urges that it be followed, and that all schools be closely and strictly graded. Each teacher should leave such a record on the teacher's record book as will enable his successor to know where to begin, and to show what each pupil has accomplished. This record should be left with the trustee, and that trustee should be on hand at the opening of the school with the record book, and clean up the house and see that the school is furnished with the necessities.

All depends upon the full and hearty co-operation of those concerned, and the result is inevitable. With best wishes for schools, LEONARD CASSITY, Supt.
